

Announcing of the Gospel - With others

(AM II, 5, 16,26)

Dear sisters and brothers, on this day as we tend towards the end of our encounter, we want to focus our attention on Christ the Master through his word in a deep prayer, so that the Lord Himself may grant us the spiritual strengths to live what we have experienced during this time.

Let us pray that the Lord will grant us the grace of his presence in our lives, the love of mission and the gift of prayer to make our apostolats well.

In this tranquility, let us listen to the Master through his gospel: Mc 6:7-13

At that time, Jesus called the Twelve; so he began to send them on a two-by-two mission. He gave them authority over unclean spirits, and he ordered them to take nothing for the road, but only a stick, no bread, no bag, no coins in their belts. "Put on sandals, don't take a spare tunic." He told them again: "When you have found hospitality in a house, stay there until you leave. If, in a locality, they refuse to welcome you and listen to you, leave and shake the dust of your feet: it will be a testimony to them." They left and proclaimed that they had to convert. They expelled many demons, made oil anointings to many sick people, and healed them.

Reflection

- ✓ Jesus begins a third stage of his ministry by organizing a mission throughout the region. Until then the apostles had accompanied Jesus but now Jesus sends them...
- ✓ Jesus is an educator. Not only does he teach us, but he educates us and engages us in his mission. We must proclaim our faith and perform wonders like our Master. Thus he invites us to put into practice the riches of the Kingdom. That is why we must live day to day, confident in our Father's providence.

Apostolic Missionary - (María Antonia París)

travelling or in mission

- ✓ May he treat everyone with respect, if he wants to be respected as it outfits the minister of the Lord; in this he will be helped by not taking liberty with anyone. (II.5)

M Paris invites us to review our relationships, the way we treat each other....

- ✓ May his modesty shine before the good and the bad; this is the virtue that must characterize Christ's missionary. (II,16)

Poverty is the key to putting the Gospel in the heart of man... and invites us to an austere life...

- ✓ When meeting of many, speaks little; but in a way it may not be tasteless with those who speak evoking things that are not bad. (II, 26)

They must strive to be faithful servants of God... by prudence... by true words... (Const. 3)

In listening to the Word, the commentary and calls of Mather Foiundress:

- Let us keep silence to internalize this in our hearts and in our lives.
- Listen first to the message of Jesus that send to announce the gospel.
- Taste this call as He addresses you as a vocational path
- You may ask yourself: How do I present myself in the place of my apostolate?
- My way of announcing reflects that of Christ, the apostles or the founders?
- Do I proclaim the gospel to others?
- Thank you for the apostolic life you live and share in with the different people. Pray for each one. Thank for what you learn with them.

Finally let us make our own this prayer of Saint Anthony Mary CLARET.

O my God, let me know You and make you known; so that I love You and make you loved; may I serve You and make others serve You; may I praise you and make you be praised by all creatures. Give me, O Father, to see all sinners converted, all righteous perseverant in Grace, and finally come to eternal Happiness."
